

UNIL | Université de Lausanne

Association du corps intermédiaire et des doctorant-e-s de l'Université de Lausanne

ACIDUL welcomes you to the corps intermédiaire of the University of Lausanne!

By signing your contract, you are integrating the corps intermédiaire (that is to say, roughly speaking, the non-professorial teaching staff of the University of Lausanne (Unil)). Simultaneously, you become a member of the Association du corps intermédiaire et des doctorant-e-s de l'Université de Lausanne (ACIDUL), which federates and represents the corps intermédiaire of the Unil and safeguards its interests.

With this brochure, ACIDUL would like to

- present the composition and the role of the corps intermédiaire;
- present the internal workings of the Unil;
- present what ACIDUL can do for you and what you can bring to it, and
- give you the means of obtaining information about your situation in the institution.

Une version française de cette brochure est disponible sur le site www.unil.ch/acidul.

The corps intermédiaire at the Unil

The corps intermédiaire and the corps professoral (professorial staff) form the corps enseignant (teaching staff) of the Unil. The students and the administrative and technical personnel (PAT), or personnel administratif et technique, which also includes certain researchers, as well as certain additional functions such as suppléants, chargés de cours and privat-docents, complete the composition of the academic community.

The corps intermédiaire of the Unil consists of more than a thousand collaborators. It is made up of the following functions:

- assistant diplômé (approximately two thirds of the staff),
- premier assistant,
- maître assistant (MA) and
- maître d'enseignement et de recherche (MER).

The doctoral students funded by the Fonds national suisse de la recherche scientifique (FNS), the Swiss National Fund for Scientific Research, or by other external funds (FE) are not officially part of the corps intermédiaire but have interests akin to those of its members. For the most part, they may take part in the life of the Unil as if they were members of this staff.

The corps intermédiaire plays two main roles within the Unil:

- At an individual level, you are taking part in the academic succession of the institution by carrying out your own doctoral or post-doctoral research, by integrating research communities and by acquiring teaching and other specific competences.
- At a collective level, you are participating in the smooth running of the University by fulfilling teaching, research and administrative tasks. In practice, the relative importance and composition of each of these elements varies greatly from one faculty or unit (institutes, sections, centres, departments, etc.) to another.

Each function is defined by different conditions as to the duration of the commitment, contract renewals, the type of tasks to be carried out (for instance, the amount of time allocated to personal research), earnings, social contributions, etc.

For a full description of each function, its conditions for hire and its work methods, please consult ACIDUL's website: www.unil.ch/acidul. You will find there, amongst other things, links to the laws, regulations and directives that concern you. ACIDUL will also readily inform you about all these questions and can help you to highlight your rights.

You may also refer to the website of the Human Resources Service (Service des ressources humaines): www.unil.ch/srh.

The cahier des charges

The cahier des charges constitutes the basis of the working relationship between each member of the corps intermédiaire and the University: "Each collaborator of the University exercises his/her own functions according to his/her cahier des charges" (art. 47, Law on the University of Lausanne [LUL]). Establishing one's cahier des charges diligently with one's unit of affiliation is a sure means of initiating good working relationships. ACIDUL therefore insists on the necessity of examining this document with all due attention.

The cahier des charges

- describes the activities you perform at the University (teaching, research and administrative tasks must be set out in percentages, without being too vague or too rigid);
- must imperatively indicate the time set aside for your personal research (minimum 50% for assistants diplômés and premiers assistants);
- can contain specific indications, such as possible hours of attendance (for receiving students, supervising experiments, managing resources open to the public, etc.), when it is necessary.

ACIDUL would like to draw your attention to the following points:

- Signing the cahier des charges must not be a precondition for signing the work contract.
- The cahier des charges that you sign must correspond to the one stated in the job offer or during the job interview.
- The cahier des charges must reflect your tasks in the best manner. Remember to bring your cahier des charges up to date, even in the course of your contract, so that it may continue to protect you adequately.

Assistants are hired by their unit, not by their thesis director. Therefore they also depend on the unit for the distribution of their tasks. Moreover, each faculty must provide a model, which may be useful to you (Règlement sur les assistants). Do request it!

For FNS and FE doctoral students who benefit from an allowance, a cahier des charges must also be established (art. 4, Rectorate's directive 1.31).

The cahier des charges for MAs and MERs is suggested during the hiring process. It should be open to negotiation. Moreover, the cahier des charges is also used during procedures for the mandate renewals for MERs, or in the promotion of MAs (see Rectorate's directives 1.5, 1.6 and 1.13).

Do not hesitate to contact us (acidul@unil.ch) and to refer to our website (www.unil.ch/acidul) for more information.

The structure of the Unil

The University of Lausanne is a public-law establishment that enjoys a certain autonomy from the political authorities on which it depends, such as the Département de la formation, de la jeunesse et de la culture (DFJC) of the State of Vaud. Decisions are made by numerous authorities at several levels, many of which require the participation of the corps intermédiaire.

At the level of the University, you will find

- the University Council, a representative authority that acts as a legislative and advisory body (the corps intermédiaire occupies 8 out of 44 seats, on the basis of elections organised within the faculties),
- the Rectorate, an executive authority made up of the Rector, the vice-rectors and their teams (the Rectorate, which can also enact directives, is seconded by several central services, such as the Human Resources Service [SRH], the Financial Service, etc.),
- the Personnel Commission (CoPers), independent from the Rectorate and allowed for by the Law on personnel (LPers), and
- the advisory commissions, adopted by the Rectorate to ensure the participation of the different bodies and personnel in the decision-making process (the corps intermédiaire is represented by delegates nominated during ACIDUL's annual Assemblée générale ordinaire).

At the level of the Faculty, you will find

- the Faculty Council, a legislative authority (the corps intermédiaire occupies 18% of the seats, on the basis of elections),
- the Dean's Office, an executive authority made up of the Dean and the vice-deans, seconded by secretaries and associates, and
- the faculty commissions, which can be permanent, such as the commissions for academic planning, the examination commissions or the pedagogical commissions; or temporary, such as the commissions for the nomination of professors, MERs and MAs.

Finally, the unit is the place where you work. According to their size, units are supplied with a council (representative or universal), a committee and/or commissions, in which the corps intermédiaire may often participate. Find out how your unit works. The unit is managed and represented by its supervisor, president or director.

In parallel with this internal structure, several university associations, independent but recognised by the Rectorate, take part in the decision-making. The student associations, affiliated to the faculties, are also gathered under the Fédération des associations d'étudiants (FAE), or Federation of Student Associations.

ACIDUL

The main goal of the Association is to federate and represent the members of the corps intermédiaire and the doctoral students of the Unil to defend their interests before the University and political authorities.

It represents the corps intermédiaire and the doctoral students before the Rectorate of the Unil.

It also handles the management of the representation of the corps intermédiaire within the commissions through a system of elections during the Assemblées générales ordinaires (which take place annually in the autumn).

ACIDUL also attends to the better circulation of information to and between the members of the corps intermédiaire and the doctoral students of the Unil.

Finally, it will answer your questions, assist you or redirect you to the competent authorities in case of a problem.

History

On May 5th, 2003, a petition having gathered more than 400 signatures was presented to the head of the DFJC. This petition aimed to improve work and hiring conditions for assistants.

Following this first mobilization, the establishment of an Assemblée générale constitutive on June 17th, 2003, then the acceptance of our statutes by the Rectorate and the recognition of the existence of our association as an interlocutor representing the corps intermédiaire, have enabled to officialize the existence of ACIDUL.

ACIDUL has since defended the interests of the corps intermédiaire and the doctoral students of the University before the Rectorate and the State of Vaud.

Organisation

ACIDUL consists of the whole of the corps intermédiaire of the Unil, as well as all doctoral students, independently of their position at the Unil.

ACIDUL is subsequently organised thus:

- The General Assembly (AG), or Assemblée générale, is the highest ranking body of the association. It elects the members of the Committee as well as the delegates to the advisory commissions, and assigns work groups to take care of specific problems.
- the Committee, or Comité, is composed of maximum 14 members. It represents the Association before the academic and political authorities, executes the decisions of the AG, answers the queries of the members of the corps intermédiaire, etc. All the members of the ACIDUL may present themselves to the Committee.

- the Secretary General, or Secrétaire general, manages the current affairs of ACIDUL as well as the administration for the Association, represents ACIDUL before extra-academic institutions when mandated by the Committee, and answers the electronic mail.
- the work groups take care of the more complex cases, which are delegated to them by the AG.

All members of ACIDUL are welcome to the various meetings.

Current cases

ACIDUL treats many cases. For an outline of the association's activities, please consult its website: www.unil.ch/acidul. Among the closed cases, two in particular mobilized the forces of the Association:

- During the General Assembly held on October 25th, 2007, ACIDUL reacted to the fact that the new academic calendar would involve a reduction of the work duration for assistants from 60 to 59 months. On November 19th, 2007, the Rectorate announced that the sixtieth month would be guaranteed to assistants having fulfilled the requirements necessary to the obtainment of the fifty-ninth month.
- On April 1st, 2008, ACIDUL submitted a petition to the Rectorate of the Unil, in opposition to the introduction of a new directive on doctoral students financed by the FNS. The directive as proposed sought to introduce a new statute whose conditions were unsatisfactorily expounded. ACIDUL's opposition enabled the substantial improvement of the contents of this directive.
- ACIDUL is currently working on the question of the different positions linked to research and teaching, and, along with the faculty associations of the corps intermédiaire, on that of the cahier des charges of assistants.

Why should you get involved in the life of the University?

The authorities representing the corps intermédiaire always need your participation. Getting involved in the life of the University, on all levels, will help you to better situate yourself within the institution, to be better informed on the subtleties of the system, to avoid problems or tensions within your section, and also... to be conscious that there are hundreds of us in the same situation, who share activities and similar objectives.

You can get involved in two different ways:

- in the organisation of the University itself (University and faculty councils, or even unit councils, and commissions) or
- within the different professional associations.

For an introduction to our activities, do attend our Assemblée générale ordinaire, which takes place annually during the autumn semester.

Laws, regulations and other official texts

The entirety of the laws concerning employment at the Unil is available on the website of the Human Ressources Service: www.unil.ch/srh/page34120.html.

You will find, amongst other things:

- the Law of July 6th, 2004 concerning the University of Lausanne (LUL),
- the Application regulations of April 6th, 2005 for the July 6th, 2004 Law concerning the University of Lausanne (RALUL) and
- the Regulations of June 13th, 2007 concerning the assistants of the University of Lausanne.

You will find yet several more documents concerning the corps intermédiaire on the webpage for the internal directives of the Unil, point 1 (human resources): www.unil.ch/interne/page41076.html#4.

You can also consult the regulations of your faculty, available on its website.

If you are an assistant, don't miss the annual meeting for new assistants, soon after classes begin in September. Numerous collaborators will be introducing themselves on this occasion.

And, most importantly, attend the next General Assembly of ACIDUL!
